The table shows the distribution of flight allocations for 2006. The vertical columns give the allocations for observation flights (active quota), and the horizontal rows give the number of flights to be received by the states parties (passive quota). The last column gives the quota entitlement specified by the treaty. E.g. Russia with Belarus has the right to carry out 42 observation flights and the obligation to receive 42 flights. In 2006, however, they will receive only 37 flights. Some states share flights. If e.g. two states share an observation flight it is counted as 0.5 quota for each of these states.
